

Tips for Giving Effective Testimonies

Please answer the Who, What, When, Where and How questions of your testimony.

Remember that those reading your Testimony were not there. Explain things in such a way that they can picture what you are talking about.

Don't be vague. Don't make statements like, "The Word of Knowledge really helped me". Answer How it helped you in what you had been considering.

If you got delivered, say what it was from. Did you get delivered from demons? Did you get delivered from depression? headaches? or an arrogant attitude?

If you say, for example "John on the Healing Team prayed for my thumb and it was completely healed," please add what was wrong with your thumb and how you know it was healed. For example: "I haven't been able to bend my thumb for 3 years, but 2 weeks after John prayed for it I knew it was healed because I could bend it again."

Don't get off on tangents. You want the listeners or readers to be able to focus on the main point you are trying to make—what God did for you.

If a Healing took place, mention details like how long you had the problem. "I had been suffering from chronic lower back pain from a car accident a year and a half ago." Or if God used a Word of Knowledge through someone on the Prophetic Team, about a personal issue; for example, for how long had you been considering whether to call your Aunt Suzie to mend your broken relationship?

Feel free to share if there was something physically going on with you when you were prayed over for Healing, but please remember to be specific (see number 5 above). If you felt "Heat" or felt physically different in any way, describe exactly when, how and where on your body the experience was.

Please don't insert your theology in the Testimony or exaggerate. And don't say you've been totally healed if you are still in partial pain.
